

TELLING A STORY

About this resource

Narrative skills help to develop the way in which our thoughts are mapped out, either verbally or written, in order to express information relating to an event. Developing these skills is crucial to school success, effective communication and interaction with others. There are a number of templates that will support narrative development across a range of ages and key stages.

This approach doesn't have to be limited to the developing writing in English and the story mountain could be used in humanities. The story planner could also be used in writing non fiction too.
